A PERSONAL MESSAGE: Radio and the world lost one of its most beloved and talented ladies with the death of Agnes Moorehead. A fitting tribute will be given her later... I read with dismay of the possible end of Radio Historical Society and Radio Dial. I certainly hope this does not happen. Charlie Ingersoll's dedication to the preservation of vintage radio is unmatched.

Abbott did little performing after that and suffered a series of strokes until his death... Barbara Ruick, 42, Mar 3. A TRIBUTE TO AGNES MOOREHEAD: from articles contributed by and personal comments by Carol Rodgers-vice president Agnes Moorehead Fan Club, 6645 Osborn St, Falls Church, Va 22046..... Agnes Moorehead is, indeed, every inch a dedicated professional. She moves with such grace and elegance, as if, from birth, like royalty, she had been carefully taught and trained to one day wear the crown of a queen. But there are no jewels nor manmade crown, nor scepter, that can but shine the brilliance of Agnes Moorehead's personality and talent. Both on stage and off, she is a rare and most precious jewel... Agnes Moorehead has all the beauty charm and poise that could be found in only the best etiquette books, if there.. in fact, perhaps, Emerson can express it better than I (Roy Buchanan): "Refinement is more a spirit than an accomplishment. All the books of etiquette that have ever been written cannot make a person refined. True refinement springs from a gentle, unselfish heart. Without a fine spirit a refined life is impossible."..... One of the newspapers stated that "the red-haired Miss Moorehead wasn't considered a pretty woman and played many 'old hag' roles." Perhaps there are those who did not consider Miss Moorehead pretty, but there are tow kinds of beauty, physical and spiritual. Miss Moorehead possessed them both. There are very few people who are not aware of the greatness of Miss Moorehead as an actress, but so few are aware of the GREATNESS of Miss Moorehead as a person. Miss Moorehead was person who cared about her fans. She cared enough to encourage one member to return to high school. She encouraged another to go forward in his high school drama class. The beauty of this great woman is that even though she attained world wide fame in her chosen profession, she never placed herself so high she was not concerned with her follow man. Miss Moorehead was deeply devout Christian. Her soul belongs to God, but her memory belongs to those of us who loved and admired her.

RUGGLES RAMBLINGS: by Bruce Ruggles, Box 1256, North Bay, Ontario, Canada P1B 8K5... (When Hello Again was just starting, Bruce wrote a series of articles about the do's and don't's of collecting, especially the poor quality of material being circulated. Here is the first of a new series.)... Personally I do not have a large collection (1800 shows), but I am selective and fussy about quality. And since I have a number of beefs, let me get them off my chest now and elaborate on them in the future... 1. There are not enough faithful, helpful, and dedicated collectors around. 2. Too many collectors when dubbing for trading friends, double-speed and then wonder why they get cross-talk or poor levels or shows minus openings and closings. 3. Great material on discs is turning up and all too often it is being transcribed onto tape by someone who doesn't know the correct way of doing it, not a professional in a radio station. 4. Too few collectors are worried about quality; very few demand it. Most settle for quantity.. collect 20,000 shows in poor or lousy sound and think they have something better than those with much fewer in near-perfect sound. 5. Most traders fail to realize that $\frac{1}{2}$ -track is not equal and never will be to $\frac{1}{4}$ -track when it comes to quality; and then there are those poor souls who collect on cassettes. 6. Some traders don't send cue cards. 7. Many traders run his several machines for 2 or more years without getting them serviced and can't understand why he's getting flutter, off-speed shows and distortion. 8. Ever seen those catalogs that list titles only with no dates, subtitles, descriptions. You have no idea whether you have the show until you order it and then it's too late. In future articles I will elaborate on the above. If there is something else you would like discussed or a point above you disagree with, please write to me, Bruce Ruggles at the above address.
